

GROUP 4: ASSETS WORTH LESS THAN $2,200

Workshop 3: Our Choices

Aya

My name is Aya and I am 8 years old. I am also a Syrian refugee. We had to leave when they began bombing our house. We were crying a lot. Our home is now a makeshift tent in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley. I have not been able to go to school for two years. I want to be a doctor so I can help children. Even if they don't have money, I will give them what they need to get better.

"Some of my friends are going to work, others have been married. I don't know if I will get to return to Syria but I dream that it will end soon."

Syria?

How many children have had to flee their homes because of the conflict in Syria?

How does war violate every right of the child?

Aya would like to be a doctor. How can we work to ensure she has a brighter future?
